RECALLS VALIANT SERVICE IN CUBAN CAMPAIGN.

The New York Evening Post contains interesting account of the changes in the officers of the Twenty-fourth infantry since the war with Spain, in which the regiment did such valiant service. The Twenty-fourth regiment was stationed at Fort Douglas when the war broke out, and went from here to Cuba. All of the officers mentioned in the article were well known in Salt Lake. The stery follows;

Extraordinary changes have taken place among the officers who accompanied the regiments to Cuba ten and one-half years go. For instance, in the case of the fiventy-fourth infantry, a colored regiment, there are now but sixteen officers on the active list of the army out of the forty who took part in the Battle of San Juan hill on July 1, 1888. Six of the sixteen are still with the Twenty-fourth infantry, and the other ten are distributed in the First, Second, Third, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Twenty-fifth regiments of infantry, and the pay department. Since that time nine of the regiment sofficers have been placed on the retired last, and fifteen are dead. Two officers were killed at the Battle of San Juan Hill, July 1, 1898—Second Lieutenant J. W. Augustin, jr., the latter not being killed on that day, but dying the day after, as the result of the wounds he received. Later in the month the regiment was ordered down to Siboney to do guard duty at the hospitals there. This voluntary work of the officers and men of the Twenty-fourth infantry at that place is a matter of history, but the self-sacrifice was so great that a brief mention of it

FRANK ROBINSON ADDRESSED LETTERS WITH STORY IN HIS CLEVER DRAWINGS

One of Artist Robinson's Envelopes.

The work of Frank C. Robinson, the Salt Lake boy who met death by electrocution, Thursday night, in Mitchell, S. D., gave every promise that his ambition to be a leading cartoonist would be fulfilled had he lived. It was his custom to adorn the envelopes containing his letters to his father, W. J. Robinson, with an illustration typifying some incident occurring at the time. The above was an envelope sent at the time he paid his landlady after having been "broke" for a couple of weeks.

Blasting at Jordan Narrows for Purposes of Improvement.

A rumor that has gained some currency during the week to the effect that the dam at the Jordan Narrows power plant had been dynamited by enraged farmers in that vicinity is denied by officials of the Telluride Power company.

The story, as told, had it that the farmers had blown out the dam, which is, located at the Salt Lake and Utah county lines about ten miles from Utah lake, for the purpose of protecting their lands from inundation.

It is said by the company, however, that the blasting that has been going on has been for the purpose of enlarging the gateways by removing some of the concrete work and, while the work has been done by farmers, it was under the plans prepared by the company.
